About CS4ME:

CIVIL SOCIETY FOR MALARIA ELIMINATION (CS4ME) is a global platform of civil society organizations involved in malaria control programs. Our vision is a world free of malaria. CS4ME objectives are to:

- Connect civil society organizations and communities affected by and at risk of malaria on a single platform, build their capacity and enable South-South collaboration and coordination;
- Promote the participation of civil society organizations and local communities beyond service delivery, but as actors involved in decision-making processes, strategy development, programming, monitoring, evaluation, research, to complement and strengthen the fight against malaria, its elimination while contributing to sustainable development goals (SDG);
- Promote community based programs for malaria
- Increase malaria voices and strengthen the sense of urgency for malaria elimination;
- Advocate for sufficient and sustained resources for malaria control and elimination and the prioritization of appropriate allocations for both civil society and communities;
- Promote universal access and effective use of existing tools, demand new tools and innovative responses to the needs of communities and local conditions ;
- Advocate for an effective multisectoral response for malaria elimination with civil society and communities as key stakeholders.

We are convinced that coordinated and well equipped civil society organizations will be able to play a greater role in malaria advocacy, mobilization of domestic resources and for the scaling up and sustainability of high-impact interventions, ensure that the most vulnerable populations have access to quality services and care, and increase the effective prevention and care behavior in the fight against malaria. In this context that we are launching a call for a quotation for the recruitment of a consultant in charge of developing the CS4ME strategic plan 2020-2024 to determine the main strategies and priorities and interventions and a resource mobilization plan.
